

CCS300: Cultural Immersion in the Quileute Nation, La Push, Washington

Details:

Spring Semester, 2020

Travel: June 14-21

Fly to/from: Seattle, Washington

One week in La Push, Wa, on the Quileute reservation

Activities: cultural immersion, conversation with elders and teens, serving meals to elders, playing games with teens and kids, learning to carve and weave, visit to Quileute fish hatchery, hiking in Olympic National Park, visit to Makah Museum, and volunteering alongside community members as needed

Great for: majors in environmental science, nursing and other health sciences, history, sociology, criminal justice, etc.

Cost: $2300

Xperitas, immersion travel with community partners

- <https://www.xperitas.org/community-partnership-programs/partnerships/quileute-people-of-la-push-washington>

Quileuete Fish Hatchery and Department of National Resources

La Push Beach

Canoes!

The Hoh Rainforest, Olympic National Park

Carving Shed

Weaving and eating with community members

Basket Weaving at the senior center

Weaving cedar bark into rope and roses

