Welcome to the Best Years of Your Life!

Welcome to Webster Vienna, a private university in the heart of Europe, which combines the best of the American educational system with an international perspective.

We pride ourselves on our student-centered philosophy. Small-class sizes mean professors can focus on the interests of individual students. The average class size is less than 14 students. We have around 130 teachers ranging from full-time professors to adjunct faculty dedicated in providing a high-quality education. Faculty is complemented by around 45 staff members, maintaining the administrative and technical support system that allows our 500 students to succeed in today's rapidly changing world.

Joining the Webster Vienna community means you will be joining a global community, one with classmates from over 70 countries. Here at Webster Vienna, diversity is respected, and innovative ideas and unique perspectives are always welcome. We foster an environment with activities that help students develop leadership skills and skills to thrive in an interconnected world. We care passionately about your learning and we strive for academic excellence.

At Webster Vienna, you will not only have the opportunity to make the most of our academic resources, but you will also have Vienna's location in the heart of Europe at your doorstep. The city is a diplomatic hub and a number of international corporate headquarters and international organizations, such as the United Nations, Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC), and the Organization for Security and Cooperation in Europe (OSCE), call it home. We hope you will, too.

Your time at university can be the best years of your life. We hope this brochure will help you as you embark on this exciting new chapter. It would be our pleasure to welcome you personally to our campus, Palais Wenkheim, at one of our Open Information Evenings. Or better yet, as a new student.

Strive for Excellence

Webster focuses on excellence in teaching, the joining of theory and practice, and small class sizes

We educate students to be lifelong independent learners prepared to participate in an increasingly international society. Classes are small and interactive with a maximum of 25 students per class.

In a world where research and innovation are the driving forces in the modern economy, Webster recognizes the importance of enabling our students to participate in faculty-mentored research and creative projects.

The learning experience offered during research can both engage and empower you in a way that does not occur during traditional coursework. It also allows the formation of a close working relationship with a faculty mentor who will provide expert guidance, encouragement and support throughout the research, thus promoting student confidence and excellence.

Exposure to an area of research can also help you to decide on a career path. And in today's competitive job market, employers increasingly recognize the value of educational practices that prepare students for success in the workplace, such as conducting research even at the undergraduate level.

Our Mission

Webster University, a worldwide institution, ensures high quality learning experiences that transform students for global citizenship and individual excellence.

Core Values

Students – By sustaining a personalized approach to education through small classes, close relationships with faculty and staff and attention to student life.

Learning – By developing educational programs that join theory and practice, provide an international perspective, encourage creativity and scholarship, and foster a lifelong desire to learn and actively serve communities and the world.

Diversity – By creating an environment accessible to individuals of diverse cultures, ages and socioeconomic backgrounds, and instilling in students a respect for diversity and an understanding of their own and others values.

Global Citizenship – By educating a diverse population locally, nationally and internationally, acting responsibly toward the environment to foster a sustainable future, and strengthening the communities we serve.

Research

Webster Vienna Private University is fortunate to have research faculty who actively pursue and acquire grant-funded research projects. Our research faculty pursue academic inquiry along the framework of the Social and Behavioral Sciences and regularly publish in top-ranked, peer-reviewed journals, author monographs or edited works, attend competitive conferences and symposia, and are sought after by the larger community for their input on salient issues discussed in the mass media. The institutional research focus corresponds with the respective disciplines that are taught in the bachelor and master study programs.

Be Individual

You are the architect of your degree, make it your masterpiece.

What exactly does it mean to attend Webster – the American university with a global perspective – here in Vienna? It means you will be able to earn a liberal arts degree within the world's finest education system, while designing an individual study program that prepares you for a career anywhere in the world.

ACCREDITATIONS AND RECOGNITIONS

Webster University is accredited in the United States by the Higher Learning Commission. The accreditation, which was first awarded in 1925, includes undergraduate and graduate degree programs at all locations worldwide where the university offers its programs.

Since 2001, Webster Vienna Private University, has been accredited by The Agency for Quality Assurance and Accreditation Austria as an Austrian private university.

Webster's Business and Management programs are accredited by ACBSP (Accreditation Council for Business Schools and Programs).

For a full list of our awards and recognitions, please visit webster.ac.at/accreditations

The three components of your degree:

1 Requisite courses and Global Citizenship Program

You will start your studies by taking Requisite Competency courses in order to master a core set of skills that prepare you for future academic work. These include writing composition, math, computer applications, study skills and the freshman seminar. The American liberal arts education system also provides broader, more general knowledge – in areas such as history, science, and the arts – as well as training in critical thinking and problem-solving skills (Global Citizenship Program). These skills are crucial for you to become well-rounded citizens of the world: intellectually adept and resourceful, able to handle complex situations and changing conditions in the 21st century.

2 Your major

When you have chosen your »major«, your main area of interest, you will take a distinct sequence of courses in that specific discipline – some courses are required, others are electives and can be chosen by you to best fit your area of specialization and interest.

3 Tailor your degree with your electives

You can enhance your major by choosing higher-level elective courses in the same field, or expand your major by studying related subjects in another field. For example, Business majors may wish to improve their presentation skills with elective courses in Media Communications, while International Relations majors might be interested in the psychology of cultural diversity.

You can also earn a double major by choosing all your elective courses from one other major department, or add a minor by selecting a cluster of elective courses from a different department.

Webster Vienna offers Bachelor Programs in

- Business and Management
- International Relations
- Media Communications
- Psychology

We also offer Minor courses and the following two certificate programs which can be included as part of your degree

- Certificate in Entrepreneurship
- Certificate in Digital Media - Design & Production

Career Opportunities

Whether you plan a career in banking, finance, consulting, IT, telecommunications, manufacturing, or with a nonprofit organization such as the United Nations, your Business and Management degree from Webster will open the door. Our Business students have gone on to lead successful careers in companies such as Bank Austria, Baxter, Dell, Erste Group, Hewlett Packard, Honeywell, IBM, Microsoft, NIKE, Oracle, Philips, Siemens, and many more. Webster also nurtures a strong entrepreneurial spirit to which the many successful business ventures of our graduates are a testimony.

Tailor your degree

Webster Vienna Private University allows you the flexibility to customize your learning experience. Interdisciplinary coursework will allow you to deepen your knowledge in a specific area. Should you, for example, plan a career in Marketing, selecting courses or even a second degree in Media Communications or Psychology may be exactly what you are looking for. Your personal academic advisor will be happy to consult with you.

Business and Management

Are you planning to take over the family business one day? Is your goal to lead a multinational company or launch your own business idea?

For any of these aspirations you will need a solid business and management foundation. Gaining a sound understanding of finance, accounting, economics, marketing, and management will be indispensable for your career. Personal skills such as the ability to think analytically, to solve problems, to communicate effectively and to lead and inspire others will make the difference between success and failure in an increasingly competitive global business arena. Our Business and Management programs will prepare you for the challenges ahead.

Thanks to our unique blend of academic excellence and hands-on practice, you will leave Webster with solid academic references and highly marketable business skills. Our professors and distinguished guest lecturers, seasoned corporate professionals and internationally renowned academics, all share the same passion for teaching and inspiring future business leaders. They will personally mentor and encourage you to pursue your own projects and interests.

But it's not only a Webster education that will set you apart from the competition. You will always be part of the Webster network – whether it is through the student associations you join, the international friendships and contacts you build or the student and the alumni services we offer.

Business students who graduate with academic honors can join Delta Mu Delta, an international honor society open for ACBSP accredited schools.

Webster student Sona Klucarova received the Delta Mu Delta Board Award, one of the prestigious annual scholarship awards presented to outstanding business students by Delta Mu Delta's central office in Brookfield, IL, USA.

Tailor your degree

At Webster you have the freedom to take electives from other departments to pursue your own special interests. Courses such as the psychology of economics, or cultural diversity in the media, can add value to your skill set and improve your performance and effectiveness in international relations.

Career Opportunities

Our campus is unique in its access to many of the world's top international and nongovernmental organizations. Our students frequently obtain prized internships before going on to work, for example, at one of the Vienna-based intergovernmental organizations or specialized agencies such as the United Nations Industrial Development Organization (UNIDO), the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime (UNODC), the International Atomic Energy Agency (IAEA), the Organization on Security and Cooperation in Europe (OSCE), the Comprehensive Nuclear-Test-Ban Treaty Organization (CTBTO), or one of the EU institutions.

Other Webster graduates pursue top careers in politics, international business, and national foreign services, or become aid workers for governmental agencies and NGOs. Webster's International Relations graduates are regularly admitted to prestigious post-graduate programs in Europe and the United States, such as Oxford, Cambridge, the London School of Economics, Columbia, Johns Hopkins and Georgetown. Most importantly, our graduates leave with a large network of life-long friends and colleagues in countries, companies and governments around the world, an essential component of success in today's globalized world.

International Relations

Whether you want to work in government, a global corporation, academia, or a nongovernmental organization, a degree in International Relations can open many doors.

In the courses taught at the International Relations (IR) Department you will learn how to do rigorous and structured research, how to understand and explain a comprehensive range of international relations issues and how to develop scholarly analysis as well as how to apply it. You can specialize in different fields such as European integration studies, Asian security studies, energy and environmental policies or international organizations just to mention a few. Our international classrooms, with students and faculty from all around the world, enhance the different political and cultural discussions leading to a better understanding in the field of International Relations.

As a Webster Vienna International Relations student, you will have an intellectually challenging and academically outstanding program of lectures, research topics, interactive coursework, field trips and tutorials. Your professors will be highly experienced and top-level academicians, diplomats and foreign affairs experts, offering you a comprehensive insight into the world of IR. Through their academic and professional networks, our IR faculty members are able to give you the rare chance to meet leading actors at the national and international level for first-hand dialog. Current students and graduates alike cite these experiences as formative highlights of their education at Webster Vienna.

We are proud that Webster Vienna's model UN team received the second-highest number of awards of all participating universities (including other prestigious universities, such as SciencesPo, LSE, Princeton, MIT and Cambridge) at its first international Model UN conference, MEDMUN in Menton, France. Two of our students also received the Best Delegate awards.

Career Opportunities

A strong portfolio is essential when it comes to finding a job after graduation. Webster ensures that all media students will leave with strong bodies of work in their specialized fields, whether they are based in text, research, videos, photography or other media.

The Media Communications curriculum prepares students for postgraduate studies at leading universities, and to find employment as producers, writers, photographers, designers and creative directors in private business, television, government, NGOs, the movie industry and elsewhere.

Tailor your degree

Media is the means of communications, but what is your message? The answer may lie in other fields of study. To report on some aspect of world affairs, for instance, you can obtain vital background from a course in International Relations. To prepare for corporate presentations or campaigns, electives in Business and Marketing will provide you with some necessary fundamentals. Such possibilities enable you to focus your degree just about any way you wish.

Media Communications

Do the possibilities of digital storytelling fascinate you? Are you intrigued by how a video or image goes viral? Would you like the skills to take an idea from script to screen?

If so, then a degree in Media Communications will provide you with the tools needed to navigate the communication challenges of the 21st century.

Media Communications is a fascinating, rapidly changing and growing field. News, entertainment, advertising, audiovisual production, photography, animation, feature writing, blogging, social and personal media – they are all part of it. The Internet and the digitalization of information have driven media to new horizons and will continue to do so.

The Media Communications program is an excellent choice if you want to understand how the media works and how to apply your knowledge in practical training.

As a student of Media Communications, you will enjoy the attention you receive in our small and interactive classes. During your studies you will be able to develop your own style by gaining hands-on experience in media production or writing under the guidance of our dedicated faculty.

The curricula of our media major includes internships, guest lectures and visits to media organizations. Students complete their degreee by producing an academic thesis. Recent examples of student work include video documenting UN and other conferences and participation in Vienna's annual »Under the Radar« symposium.

Studying media at Webster prepares you for successful research and practical work in one of the most relevant areas in today's and tomorrow's world: communication.

Career Opportunities

Whether in clinical psychology and psychotherapy, research and experimental psychology, or in organizational communication and consulting, at Webster you will have the opportunity to customize your course of study in order to lay the best foundations for your specific career goals. Above all, you will earn a degree that prepares you for top level work in your field, and for continued academic success at prestigious universities.

Webster students have continued on to various successful careers as well as post-graduate studies at internationally renowned institutions such as Cambridge University, Columbia University, the Sorbonne, the University of Vienna, and the London School of Economics.

Psychology

If you are considering a career in psychology, what better place to study than the city of Vienna, the birthplace of Freud, Frankl, Adler and Bettelheim, the forefathers who gave birth to this field as a modern social science!

As a Psychology student at Webster Vienna, you will have the truly unique opportunity to walk in the footsteps of these revolutionary thinkers and gain thorough knowledge of the human mind and the behavior it generates. You will understand how the technology of modern neuroscience can be applied to demonstrate the impact of the unconscious mind on human behavior, and you will learn how to apply these insights to the field of counseling psychology.

Our international faculty consists of accomplished academicians and researchers, experienced professional psychologists, practicing psychotherapists, neuroscientists, and successful psychological business consultants. Their objective is to bring the wealth of their knowledge and practical experience into the classroom. Over the course of your studies, you will have the opportunity to work with them side-by-side, assist them in their research, participate in student conferences, and gain valuable exposure to the world of scientific study.

Webster University regularly hosts lectures by some of the world's top scholars and practitioners from other institutions. World-renowned psychologist Prof. Philip Zimbardo, a past president of the American Psychological Association, has often returned to Webster Vienna to teach and give lectures.

At his last visit Prof. Zimbardo gave a lecture titled »My Journey from Evil to Heroism« (available on our Youtube channel).

The sheer talent of the lecturers to fully capture my attention was what had turned my initial liking of psychology into an insatiable hunger to learn more and to strive higher. It was their knowledge, guidance, and devotion that had prepared me, and finally helped me to obtain my Masters in Social and Developmental Psychology from the University of Cambridge. It is the quality of its lecturers that defines the quality of a University. In that respect, the Department of Psychology at Webster Vienna is the best of the best and I warmly recommend it to anyone with an interest in psychology.

Our Focus is on You

Life at university can be both exciting and rewarding. Yet it requires an adjustment to new people, new routines, and life in a new country. This is why at Webster Vienna, our focus is on you, the student. We have a variety of programs and people in place to support you—academically, socially, and professionally.

- Academic Guidance and Support
- Social Assistance and Activities
- Professional Advice and Opportunities

ACADEMIC ADVISORS

From day one, you will be assigned to a personal advisor who will guide you throughout your time at Webster on course selection and all issues related to your academic goals.

THE WRITING CENTER

To be successful in class and also in your future professional career, it is essential to be able to communicate correctly and effectively. We offer individual tutoring free of charge – to help you improve your writing skills in all areas: grammar, essay writing, citation formats, and editing.

THE QUANT CENTER

The Quant Center offers you free individual tutoring sessions as well as group workshops in math and quantitative work. By working with experienced tutors, staff and faculty, students will better understand the concepts taught in their math and quantitative classes.

STUDENT SERVICES

Here you can find help with all the practical aspects of moving – such as housing, visas, and health insurance – as well as a variety of other matters related to life on campus and living in Vienna.

COUNSELING AND PSYCHOLOGICAL TESTING SERVICES

Private, professional evaluations and consulting are available and free of charge to assist you if you experience emotional issues (e.g. anxiety, depressive moods) or learning or academic difficulties (e.g. due to anxiety, motivation or concentration problems).

THE STUDENT GOVERNMENT ASSOCIATION (SGA)

Your elected student representatives in the SGA serve as your voice in university affairs. They organize fun events and activities for students and also promote programs designed to help you in your creative and academic projects. In addition, the SGA supports sport clubs and other organizations run by students.

LEADERSHIP AND TRAINING

At Webster you have many opportunities to develop your leadership skills. Webster LEADS is an inspiring program that offers you the chance to develop and be recognized for those abilities through special classes, workshops, retreats, projects and practical experiences.

CLUBS AND ORGANIZATIONS

All Webster Vienna Societies and Clubs meet on a regular basis and conduct academically oriented or social activities. Examples of current clubs and societies: Delta Mu Delta, Football Club, Volleyball Club, Business Society Club, International Relations Club, Psychology Club, Photo Society, Model UN, Vienna Marathon, Spartan Race and Martial Arts Club.

ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

Our Alumni Association helps alumni worldwide stay in touch with each other and the university. It provides alumni with professional and social networking opportunities, and brings alumni together with current students and faculty members.

THE CAREER DEVELOPMENT CENTER

This is where you can receive individual career coaching and find connections to job and internship opportunities, information on job search resources, access to guest lectures and career workshops, as well as several other tools to prepare you to compete successfully in the job market after graduation.

Join Our Community

Make the most of your Webster experience by getting involved in campus life and our leadership program.

Community Life

Studying at Webster means much more than just getting your degree. Our campus life offers you the opportunity to get the most out of your student experience by getting involved in our tight-knit, diverse community. We know that students who are engaged, have a strong social network and have close contact with faculty and staff do better in class too – so join us and become a full-fledged Gorlok!*

You can get involved in one of our many programs and organizations for student life – the Student Government Association, Webster LEADS program, or a student club (we have lots, from soccer to debate to dance!). Students and the university put on all sorts of events, excursions and activities throughout the year: the Thanksgiving feast, the Webster Works Worldwide charity day, international cultural festival, and our famous talent show (the winners get to compete against their fellows from the other Webster campuses). New student orientation, held before the start of each term for new students, is a packed week of fun, learning and meeting new friends to get you settled in and begin engaging in the student community. Our Webster Europe soccer tournament is also a fine tradition, taking place at a different campus each year.

*The Gorlok is the Webster mascot

Webster LEADS

There's a leader in everyone – and WebsterLEADS will help you discover your inner leader. How do you work in a multicultural team? How to you solve problems in a group? How do you become a better leader and role model for you fellow students and others? These are just some of the skills you can learn by completing our leadership certificate alongside your studies. Whether it's by taking on leadership roles on campus, participating in Webster Europe leadership retreats, or performing community service, you'll learn, grow, and make lifelong friends. It'll look great on your CV too.

It doesn't matter what your major is, LEADS is open to all students. You don't have to be an extrovert or want to be a CEO to be a leader! Our philosophy is that no matter what, you can »lead from where you are«, and we'll tailor your LEADS experience to be the best and most beneficial fit for you. Make leadership a part of your Webster experience.

Webster University's community of students is diverse. What's exciting to me about my involvement is that I get to meet students outside of the classroom who share my interests. Joining a club is a wonderful opportunity to make friends, hone a skill or learn a completely new one – two of my favourite memories are hanging out at the dorms practicing German and checking out some art museums!

Study in a Palais

Webster Vienna is conveniently located just a few steps away from the historic city center of Vienna.

Most students are mesmerized when they enter our campus, the beautiful Palais Wenkheim. Built in 1826, this neoclassical building features elegant architectural detailing, both in the interior and exterior. The building was completely renovated and transformed into a modern site for academic and operational excellence in 2014.

Contemplate, Communicate, Collaborate

We offer facilities for all your study needs, whether you prefer working in groups with friends or in complete solitude.

At the Library and Learning Center you will find the resources you need for your course work, to satisfy your intellectual curiosity, or to relax with a good book. Here you will have access to study carrels, project rooms for group study, computer stations for your studies and for access to research databases, etc.

Each classroom in Palais Wenkheim is unique and equipped with the latest technology. We have a large video conference room where classes are conducted simultaneously with other Webster campuses worldwide.

Our Media Department has rooms with state of the art equipment for video and audio recording.

Classes at Webster Vienna teach you important theory as well as help you gain real-life experience. After completing my first year I already managed to gain work experience through the Work Study Scholarship program and started a part-time position at an international company.

Hannah Urbanek

STUDENT, BA MANAGEMENT WITH AN EMPHASIS IN MARKETING AND MEDIA COMMUNICATIONS, DOUBLE MAJOR

Throughout the building there are places available for students to meet and study. A popular meeting point is the Student Lounge on the ground floor with a Starbucks coffee corner.

Palais Wenkheim is centrally located in the inner city and is just a 10 minute walk from the dormitory, Residence am Augarten.

Come and experience for yourself why Vienna is consistently rated the top city in the world in which to live.

Why Study in Vienna?

Here are a few reasons:

→ A city where old meets new
Live in a historic environment, hang out in classic Viennese coffee houses and dance in trendy clubs. Visit old castles and tour modern art exhibits. Well preserved imperial palaces, elaborate baroque monuments and neo-Gothic buildings blend with modern architectural structures in this contemporary city.

→ Experience multicultural living and learning
Taste international cuisine, listen to an array of languages, and engage in thriving class discussions with students from all corners of the world.

→ We are in the heart of the city
Our campus is located in the historic Palais Wenkheim, newly renovated into a state-of-the art learning environment, conveniently located just a short distance from the city center.

→ Located in Central Europe
With eight countries on its borders, Austria allows you to travel easily while you learn. You can fly to any European capital within thirty minutes to three hours and immerse yourself in a different culture.

→ Welcome to the city of music
Vienna is famous for its classical orchestras, waltzing ball season, and world-renowned operas, while also boasting a thriving nightlife.

→ A paradise for fitness fans
The outdoor sporting opportunities in and close to Vienna are endless and include cycling, hiking, running, horse backriding, tennis, sailing, skating, and of course, skiing in the Austrian Alps.

→ Home to world-renowned luminaries of all kind
Experience art and music firsthand. A place where talents such as Klimt, Freud, Mozart and Mahler used to frequent some of the city's legendary coffee shops.

→ Safe to live, safe to play
With one of the lowest crime rates in Europe and the third safest country rating in the world, you can safely explore the city at any time of day or night. The public transportation is one of the best in Europe. It is clean, punctual, convenient and affordable.

→ Fun, vibrant, exciting and beautiful
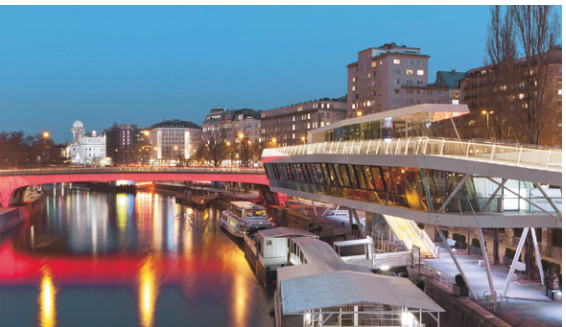
Come and experience for yourself why Vienna is consistently rated the top city in the world in which to live (e.g. Mercer's »Quality of Living Survey«). With an eclectic music scene, rich history and cultural heritage, Vienna attracts students from around the world!



I love living at Am Augarten! The rooms are clean, new, and so sunny, which makes me happy all the time. Of course, the location is also ideal. As a Residence Assistant, I try to welcome students, make sure their accommodation is waiting for them, and create a great atmosphere so that they can feel at home at Webster and in Vienna.

A Home Away from Home

Welcome to our Webster Residence Am Augarten!

Webster Vienna's dormitory combines all the newest amenities with the charm of vintage Viennese architectural style. Here you will enjoy superior comfort, a convenient location and an engaging social atmosphere.

Old world elegance greets you the moment you step through the doorway. A ground-floor café/lounge area serves as the center of social activity where students can relax with friends or study in small groups. All the rooms, on the other hand, are modern and have been beautifully renovated and furnished.

Central location close to campus

As comfortable and pleasing as the residence is, most students cite the building's location as its main attraction. Its proximity to the university campus and to the heart of downtown Vienna make it extremely convenient for going to and from classes and for exploring all that this wonderful city has to offer. It is also surrounded by many cafés and restaurants, both for quick take-out as well as sit-down meals. All other amenities of community living, such as supermarkets, cleaners, clothing shops and doctors' offices, are also plentiful and nearby.

The central location is really important – everything you could possibly want is easily accessible on foot or by public transportation. The people are friendly and the atmosphere is great.

Alexander Hermann

STUDENT, BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION

Dormitory living

Living in a dormitory among friends and classmates is a typical part of the American university experience. To create this collegial community atmosphere and assure a supportive and caring environment for new students, Webster Vienna requires all its undergraduate freshmen and transfer students to spend their first academic semester living at ÖJAB* Webster Residence Am Augarten. Students who wish to stay longer can extend their contract on a semester basis. Both the Residence Assistant and the Housing Coordinator live on the premises and are available to help you manage and enjoy your dormitory life as part of the Webster community.

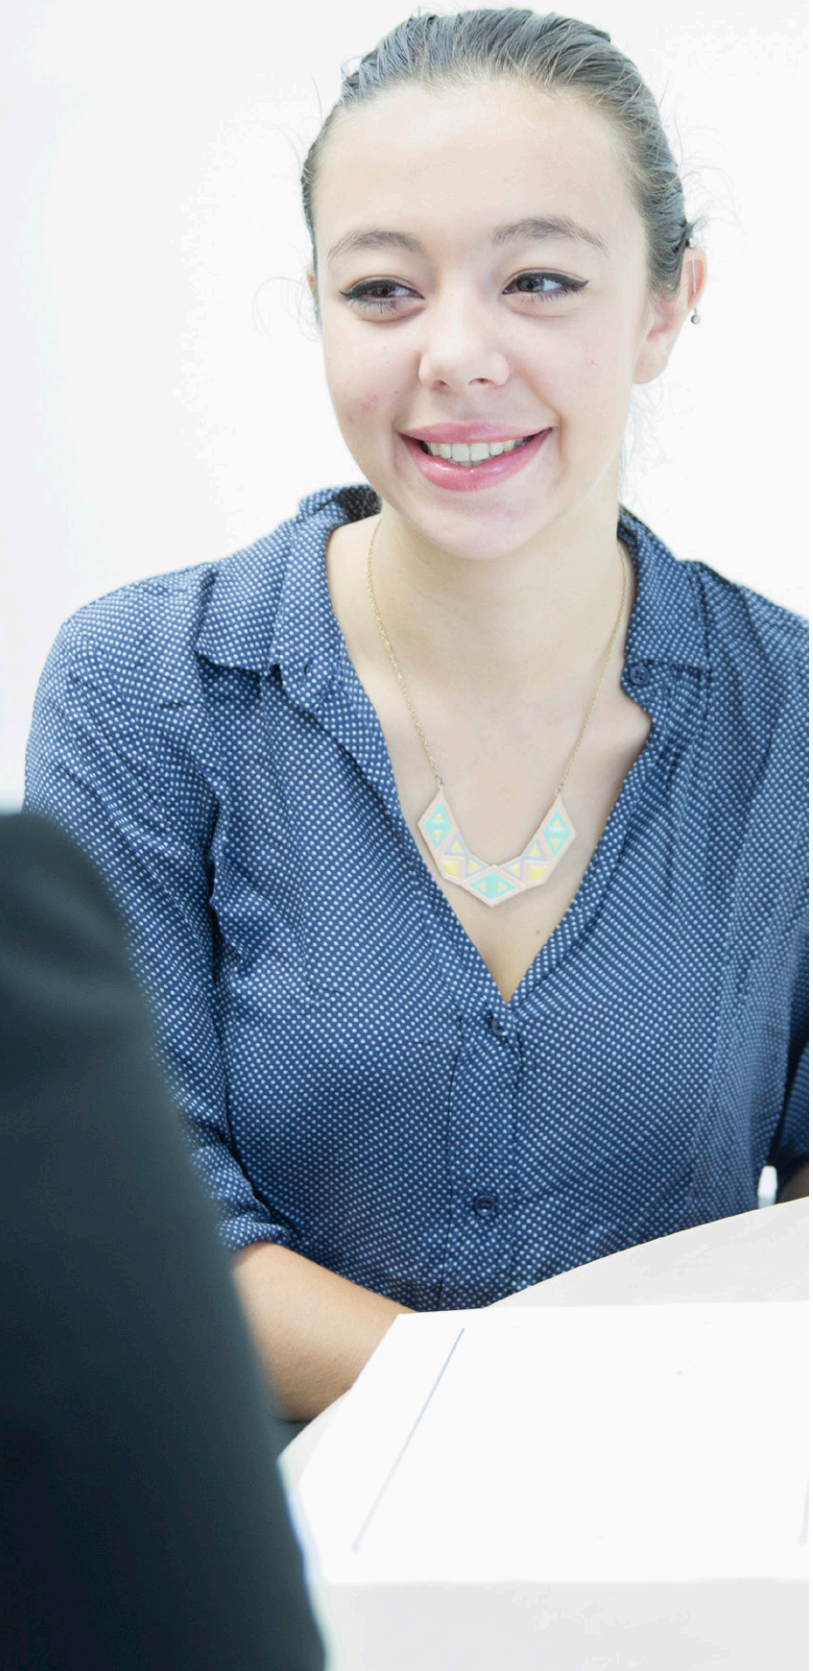
Be Prepared for Your Next Step

Your goal is our goal: to prepare you for, and help you find, the best possible path for a successful and rewarding career.



Webster takes care of the development of its students even after their graduation. Through Webster's Career Development Center, I learned about the great opportunity to do an internship at Erste Group Bank. The end of my internship there was just the beginning. It was the beginning of a job, which was everything I ever wanted out of my work life - working in an international environment, on challenging projects, with an amazing team of highly professional and positive colleagues.

Earning your undergraduate degree is an important first step in fulfilling your career goals, but the actual path isn't always simple or clear. Which professional discipline are you really best suited for? How can you obtain practical work experience – through internships or employment – which is so highly valued by employers?

Webster Vienna's Career Development Center (CDC) is here to help you with these and other career-related questions and challenges. The coaching and counseling is free of charge, and available to all current students, recent graduates and alumni.

We start by helping you evaluate suitable career choices based on your skills and interests, and then work with you to create an effective job search strategy. You will learn the best way to market yourself to potential employers, and how to take advantage of activities at Webster Vienna that can make you a more attractive candidate. We also assist in preparing the best possible CV and cover letter, and provide advice and practice for that all-important interview.

The CDC success rate speaks for itself. With many years of experience and personal connections here in Vienna, we have placed countless students in internship and job positions both during their years at Webster and after graduation. The list of firms that have hired Webster alumni full-time reads like a »Who's Who« of leading international businesses and organizations.

After graduating from Webster, you will automatically become a member of the Webster Alumni Association (webster.ac.at/alumni), an international network of over 180,000 alumni, 3,000 of whom graduated from Webster Vienna.

Our Alumni Association is organized by a group of highly involved individuals and alumni. They help alumni worldwide to stay in touch with each other and the university. Membership is free and provides exclusive access to a wide range of benefits and services including contacts and connections for a lifetime.

As you begin your life as a working professional, you can continue to receive support from the Career Development Center with job leads and career guidance. You can also continue your studies by auditing selected courses at Webster University's Vienna campus.

My undergraduate studies in psychology at Webster Vienna formed a strong foundation for my graduate and postgraduate work in neuroscience and space life sciences. The academic foundation and research experience I gained, enabled me to pursue my PhD. I am reminded daily that without my Webster education, I would probably not be doing the science that I always wanted to do.

Travel the world while studying at Webster

Our worldwide network of campuses offers study abroad opportunities that will help you prepare to live and work in a global society.

Living and studying in a foreign country is an invaluable experience. At Webster we encourage you to take advantage of our international network and gain a new perspective by completing part of your studies in another country. All classes are taught in English and admissions to one campus means admission to the Webster worldwide network on 4 continents in 9 countries.

The benefit of studying within our network of campuses is that you always stay within the Webster 'family' and our excellent support system. Wherever you go, you know our system, and you can focus on your degree while enjoying and exploring the world.

My experience abroad has enabled me to understand different cultures on a whole new level. Within Webster's network I have studied on four continents and this experience has allowed me to develop as an individual and shaped me into a global citizen.
